The 3rd Cavalry Regiment was sought out by Mecklenburgers all over the state regardless of the company location

Explanation of New Names – War Between the States

There are a total of 63 names to be added to the Mecklenburg County Veterans Memorial with respect to the War Between the States (WBTS). Some of these names were contained within the pages of a book on the 22nd Virginia Infantry Battalion, a total of 16 men. A mistake was made by the purchasers of the regimental books when the 22nd Virginia Infantry Battalion was confused with the 22nd Virginia Infantry Regiment. Further, the book concerning the 22nd Infantry Battalion was available elsewhere during the research and it is regretted that it was not located until present. The book, Life by the Roaring Roanoke, by Susan Bracey Sheppard was used for this unit and this resulted in ten names among the original listings. A book titled 22nd Virginia Infantry Regiment was available in the Southside Regional Library and was extensively searched with a negative result for anyone from Mecklenburg County. A copy of the book on the 22nd Virginia Infantry Battalion is now available in this same library. A total of 46 names were contained in the Fudiciary Book 1, Mecklenburg County Courthouse. This book indicated that the fee for a bond was not charged to deceased soldiers families. This appears not to have been a state policy, but a gesture of Mecklenburg County only. A check of Brunswick, Lunenburg, and Charlotte Counties indicates no such policy existed within those counties. A total of 46 names of soldiers were found in this fudiciary book and 30 of those were already placed on the monument. A total of 16 names had to be added to include all soldiers listed. Out of a grand total of 405 WBTS deaths there appears to have been 46 who had an estate. That appears to be a small number but the vast majority of deceased soldiers had not established an estate. There were three soldiers from the 1st Virginia Infantry Reserves. The remaining soldiers added came from various miscellaneous units, some not peculiar to Mecklenburg County. As of August 5th, 2010

Remarks

The regimental books relating to Mecklenburg County units that fought in the War Between the States are located at the Boynton Library in the reference/Genealogy section. The Death Register is located at the Virginia State Library. This register is on microfilm and is almost unreadable. The original copies can be viewed by special request to the State Records Center, Archives Reading Room, 1998 Charles City Road, Richmond, Virginia. In finalizing this record I would like to extend my gratitude to Gerald Gilliam, Editor, The Southsider, for his guidance and insights. Wanda Brooks, Business Manager, Southside Regional Libraries, for her guidance on the census records of Mecklenburg County, Steve Hatcher, Mecklenburg Electric Cooperative, for his help with the lamination of the Oversea War Dead book, Frances Clark, Registrar, UDC and the Sons of Confederate Veterans for 165 names of the War Between the States war dead and finally, Bill Huskey, The Computer Store, for use of his Direct Satellite Link. During this research project I have kept uppermost in my mind to do my utmost to ensure no name was omitted from the monument. As with time that marches forever onward, certain records are lost for the moment. I am certain that there are more war dead names that should be included. Necessary action will be taken to include those omitted should their names be learned at a later date.

The latest revision of this book was brought about by a desire to research the War Between the States wounded and prisoners of war. Once again the regimental books were used with additional resource of www.footnote.com. By using these, not only were the wounded and POWs found, but an addition 13 more war dead. The footnote site contains records from the National Archives and has additional pages to soldier's records available on microfilm at the state library. An additional 6 soldiers were found deceased from other counties or states. Although born in Mecklenburg County, they moved to other locations and went off to war from those locations. Limited space on the monument will not allow these names to be incorporated. Updated August 5th, 2010.

The names of the wounded and prisoners of war during the War Between the States are added during this update. Researcher were Ronnie Bugg, Williard Hazelwood and John Caknipe. Sources were the regimental books, Footnote.com, and various material provided by John Caknipe. These rosters will update as more of these categories are learned.
